

DEFINE YOURSELF

Who are you in the Goodenough Community System?

Ask yourself:

- ① Have I come to the Goodenough Community because I've found a place where I belong, thrive, learn, heal, grow, and enjoy?
- ② Do I attend community events and value community teachings?
- ③ Do I long to be the best version of myself?
- ④ Do I value many or all these things: human development, lifelong learning, spiritual development, multi-generational wisdom, earth stewardship, social justice, voting with my dollars, diversity, personal accountability, contributing to a more relational society...all toward creating a better life on Earth?
- ⑤ Do I value my interactions with the Goodenough Community and return again and again?

If all or most of this is true for YOU, then...

You are a Goodenough Community

GOODENOUGH COMMUNITY MEMBER SERVICE LOOP

Invested service is the foundation for sustainability

Q. So ... I pay to serve?

A. No. You serve by investing!

Investing = Time , Energy, and Dollars

This is what we call invested service into the Goodenough Community.

Our members are people who invest resources based on deeply held and commonly shared values.

Among these values are:

The need for sound mental health.

An interest in creating a better way of life.

The benefits that come from serving the larger good.

The intention to develop and maintain authentic relationships.

A mindful awareness of spiritual, psychological, and personal growth.

The importance of developing our own and each other's unique gifts.

Love of nature, deep caring about its preservation and balance.

Belief in equality, well-being, education, and accountability.

Authentic actions, words, and beliefs.

Our covenant offers a method for living these values in our daily lives.

Members serve with their time, energy, and dollars to improve self, relationships, communities, and life on Earth.

Service Level 4 Legacy

The founders/visionaries who established and perpetuate the community through their participation

Legacy Members are the people who have provided long-standing service within the Goodenough Community by investing in our property, facility, housing, teaching, ideology, and infrastructure. They seek to live by the Covenant of the Goodenough Community and to demonstrate the teachings of founders John Lawrence Hoff, Th.D., and Colette Hoff, M.Ed., and the values of the Goodenough Community. For many years they have applied those teachings to the development of the Goodenough Community and its programs. Most Legacy Members have made and continue to make significant financial contributions and historically, in conjunction with the Hoffs, have kept the community financially afloat through hard economic times.

Many of these members made an investment of $10,000 that enabled the purchase of Sahale.

However, it is not financial commitment that defines a Legacy Member. Each Legacy Member intentionally lives by the Goodenough Community Covenant and has participated in the community for 20 years or more. Legacy Members provide leadership throughout the community and offer mentorship. They know the Goodenough Community, its strengths, and its flaws, and they are committed to helping the community grow stronger. Although Legacy Members may not wish to be listed by name here, you will recognize them through their dedication to the community and its Covenant, and by the well-deserved respect shown to them. Legacy Members become the elders of the community.

Legacy Members may find it hard to put into words all the rewards they have received from their years of practice and service in the community. This is because the gifts, teachings, and benefits of the community have become intrinsic parts of their own lives – the air they breathe, the water they swim in. They can usually articulate, however, many ways in which participation in the community has brought positive change into their lives, has improved their mental wellness, and has deepened their spiritual lives.

We are grateful to our Legacy Members for their continuing dedication to the well-being of our beloved community.

Many current Legacy Members joined with John and Colette Hoff as founding members of the community. Others have had longstanding participation in the Goodenough Community but are not founding members. Legacy Members look forward to being joined by more members as their service and dedication to the Goodenough Community are demonstrated. Like the original Legacy Members, new Legacy Members quietly and substantially support the community and its works, and consistently contribute to the maintenance and financial support of Sahale. While there are no standardized qualifications for becoming a Legacy Member, their commitment over time is recognized and they may be invited to become a Legacy Member.
